Case No. C16-1200RSL

ORDER DENYING ALLSTATE'S MOTION FOR
SUMMARY JUDGMENT

17 This matter comes before the Court on "Defendant Allstate Fire & Casualty Insurance
18 Company's Motion for Summary Judgment." Dkt. # 28. Summary judgment is appropriate
19 when, viewing the facts in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, there is no genuine
20 issue of material fact that would preclude the entry of judgment as a matter of law. The party
21 seeking summary dismissal of the case "bears the initial responsibility of informing the district
22 court of the basis for its motion" (Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986)) and 23 "citing to particular parts of materials in the record" that show the absence of a genuine issue of 24 material fact (Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c)). Once the moving party has satisfied its burden, it is entitled 25 to summary judgment if the non-moving party fails to designate "specific facts showing that

1 there is a genuine issue for trial.” Celotex Corp., 477 U.S. at 324. The Court will “view the
2 evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party . . . and draw all reasonable
3 inferences in that party’s favor.” Krechman v. County of Riverside, 723 F.3d 1104, 1109 (9th
4 Cir. 2013). Although the Court must reserve for the jury genuine issues regarding credibility, the 5 weight of the evidence, and legitimate inferences, the “mere existence of a scintilla of evidence
6 in support of the non-moving party’s position will be insufficient” to avoid judgment. City of 7 Pomona v. SQM N. Am. Corp., 750 F.3d 1036, 1049 (9th Cir. 2014); Anderson v. Liberty
8 Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 252 (1986). Factual disputes whose resolution would not affect the 9 outcome of the suit are irrelevant to the consideration of a motion for summary judgment. S.
10 Cal. Darts Ass’n v. Zaffina, 762 F.3d 921, 925 (9th Cir. 2014). In other words, summary
11 judgment should be granted where the nonmoving party fails to offer evidence from which a 12 reasonable jury could return a verdict in its favor. FreecycleSunnyvale v. Freecycle Network,
13 626 F.3d 509, 514 (9th Cir. 2010).

18 Having reviewed the memoranda, declarations, and exhibits submitted by the parties,¹ the 19 Court finds as follows:
20

21 BACKGROUND

22 On July 30, 2013, plaintiff Lika Oung was involved in a car accident while driving
23 southbound on I-5 in Seattle, Washington. At the time of the accident Mr. Oung was stopped in 24 traffic, and the vehicle behind him, driven by Balakrishman Swamy, was also stopped. A third

28 DENIED.

1 car driven by Harrison Wyles rear-ended Mr. Swamy's vehicle, which in turn rear-ended Mr.
2 Oung's car. Mr. Oung suffered injuries to his head and neck and was taken to the emergency
3 room. Both parties agree that Mr. Oung was not at fault.

5 Mr. Oung was insured by defendant Allstate Fire & Casualty Insurance Company
6 ("Allstate"), including underinsured motorist ("UIM") coverage. Mr. Oung recovered the 7 $100,000 policy limits from the at-fault driver Mr. Wyles, as well as $10,000 from Allstate for 8 personal injury protection. Mr. Oung then filed a UIM claim with Allstate.

10 On January 9, 2015, Mr. Oung's attorney Brian Russell sent a letter to Allstate informing 11 the defendant of the UIM claim on behalf of Mr. Oung and his wife Sophy Long. Allstate 12 assigned the claim to adjuster Michael Cabin. Over the next eighteen months, Mr. Oung and 13 Allstate disputed the value of the claim. During this time, emails, letters, and records were 14 exchanged between Mr. Oung's attorney and Allstate, as Allstate repeatedly asked for more 15 information. On March 25, 2015,² Mr. Russell sent a demand letter to Allstate seeking the 16 policy limits of $100,000 for medical expenses, wage loss, and general damages including 17 Sophy Long's loss of consortium. Decl. of Brian P. Russell (Dkt. # 32), Ex. 5. Mr. Oung
18 requested arbitration as one option under his policy, but Allstate refused. Decl. of Michael Cabin
19 (Dkt. # 30), Ex. 8. The parties engaged in two attempts at mediation, both of which were 20 unsuccessful. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), at 17, 21. Mr. Cabin evaluated Mr. Oung's

1 claim at least four times during this period and offered at most $15,474 to settle.³ Decl. of 2 Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), at 21.

4 On July 2, 2016, Mr. Oung filed suit against Allstate demanding the $100,000 UIM
5 policy limits and also alleging bad faith related to Allstate's handling of the UIM claim. Mr.
6 Oung was deposed on February 7, 2017. On March 17, 2017, Allstate agreed to pay the policy
7 limits of $100,000.

9 The remaining issues in this litigation involve Allstate's handling of Mr. Oung's UIM
10 claim. Plaintiff and defendant characterize the dispute dramatically differently. Allstate 11 maintains that the back-and-forth merely "reflect[ed] a legitimate difference of opinion . . . as to 12 the value of the UIM aspect of Mr. Oung's claim." Dkt. # 28 at 12. Mr. Oung, on the other hand, 13 asserts that defendant's repeated requests for more information and lowball offers amounted to 14 tactics designed to deny and delay paying the claim. Now, Allstate asks that the bad faith claim
15 filed against it be dismissed by this Court as a matter of law.
16
18
19

20 ³ Mr. Cabin first evaluated Mr. Oung's claim on April 28, 2015, and determined that the value was less
21 than the offsets, which totaled $106,500. These offsets included the $100,000 that Mr. Oung received
22 from Wyles' insurer, as well as $6,500 from the $10,000 that he received from Allstate's personal injury
23 protection. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), Ex. 6. On June 18, 2015, Mr. Cabin re-evaluated the 24 claim and determined that the revised gross value was $115,191, and he offered Mr. Oung $8,691 (the 25 revised gross value less the offsets) to settle. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), at 13. During this re-
26 evaluation, a second adjuster valued the claim at $18,691. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), Ex. 11.
27 Then, on July 1, 2015, Mr. Cabin evaluated the UIM claim a third time, and he concluded that the new 28 gross value was $133,962, resulting in a UIM net value of $27,462. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30),
Ex. 15. A second adjuster valued the claim at $30,000, but once again, only $8,691 was offered to Mr.
Oung to settle. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), Exs. 14-16. Finally, on May 29, 2016, Mr. Cabin valued the claim, including offsets, at $38,012. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), Ex. 19. Mr. Cabin subsequently increased his settlement offer to $15,474. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), at 21.
Shortly after rejecting this amount, Mr. Oung filed suit.

DISCUSSION

Mr. Oung's causes of action include breach of contract, bad faith, and negligence, as well as violations of the Consumer Protection Act (CPA), RCW 19.86, et seq., and the Insurance Fair Conduct Act (IFCA), RCW 48.30, et seq. Amended Complaint (Dkt. # 1, Attach. 1). Taken together, these claims allege that Allstate violated its duty of good faith in handling Mr. Oung's UIM claim.

In general, insurers owe a duty of good faith when dealing with their insureds. See RCW 48.01.030. This basic standard of good faith applies in the UIM context even when the relationship between the insured and the insurer becomes adversarial. See Ellwein v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co., 142 Wn.2d 766, 780-781 (2001) (overruled on other grounds by Smith v. Safeco Ins. Co., 150 Wn.2d 478 (2003)). Violations of the insurance regulations set forth in the Washington Administrative Code (WAC) may establish a breach of the insurer's duty of good faith. Rizzuti v. Basin Travel Serv. of Othello, Inc., 125 Wn. App. 602, 615-616 (2005). In order to establish bad faith, Mr. Oung must also show that Allstate's conduct was "unreasonable, frivolous or unfounded." Kirk v. Mt. Airy Ins. Co., 134 Wn.2d 558, 560 (1998). To state a claim under the IFCA, Mr. Oung must prove that Allstate unreasonably denied a claim or unreasonably denied payment of benefits. Perez-Crisantos v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co., 187 Wn.2d 669, 683 (2017).

1 Although the elements of these causes of action vary slightly,⁴ at its core, they center on
2 the reasonableness of Allstate's actions in handling Mr. Oung's UIM claim. WAC 284-30-
3 330(2) provides that an insurer may not "refuse[] to pay claims without conducting a reasonable
4 investigation," and WAC 284-30-330(6) provides that an insurer must "attempt[] in good faith
5 to effectuate prompt, fair and equitable settlements of claims in which liability has become 6 reasonably clear." In this case, there are genuine issues of material fact regarding whether
7 Allstate conducted a reasonable investigation and attempted to effectuate prompt and fair
8 settlement. Allstate's summary judgment motion recounts numerous times that it requested more 9 information about Mr. Oung's claimed medical bills and wage loss. Dkt. # 28 at 3-10. It is 10 possible that these requests were reasonable and made in good faith to effectuate prompt
11 settlement. It is also possible, however, that some of these requests were attempts to stall and 12 delay. The reasonableness of Allstate's investigation is a question of fact for a jury to decide.

13 Perhaps more on point is WAC 284-30-330(7), which provides that an insurer may not 14 "compel[] a first party claimant to initiate or submit to litigation, arbitration, or appraisal to 15 recover amounts due under an insurance policy by offering substantially less than the amounts
16 ultimately recovered in such actions or proceedings." Allstate's highest offer prior to the lawsuit
17 was $15, 474, even though the adjuster had additional settlement authority. Decl. of Michael 18 Cabin (Dkt. # 30), at 21. After the lawsuit was filed, Allstate paid the policy limits of $100,000.

26 ⁴ For example, violations of certain WAC provisions constitute per se unfair trade practices under the 27 CPA (Indus. Indem. Co. of the Nw., Inc. v. Kallevig, 114 Wn.2d 907, 923-924 (1990)), but without 28 something more, these regulatory violations do not allow plaintiffs to pursue claims under the IFCA
(Perez-Crisantos, 187 Wn.2d at 686).

1 Although this difference in figures is not dispositive (see Perez-Crisantos, 187 Wn.2d at 684), it
2 is telling. This Court has written previously that “a lowball offer in the hopes that its insured
3 would accept less than adequate compensation for his damages in order to avoid the delay and
4 expense of litigation—is exactly the type of unfair act or practice at which WAC 284–30–330(7)
5 is aimed.” Morella v. Safeco Ins. Co., No. C12-672RSL, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 53255, at *8
6 (W.D. Wash. Apr. 12, 2013).

9 Even setting aside the disparity between Allstate’s highest offer and its final payout, there
10 is evidence showing that as Allstate’s valuation of the UIM claim was rising, Mr. Oung was not
11 offered additional money to settle. On July 1, 2015, Mr. Cabin evaluated the UIM claim for a 12 third time and determined its value at $27,462, up from $8,691. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt.
13 # 30), Ex. 15. Yet in a letter dated that same day, he did not increase his settlement offer above
14 $8,691. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), Ex. 14. Allstate’s highest valuation of the UIM
15 claim prior to the lawsuit was $38,012, but the highest settlement offer that Mr. Oung received 16 was $15,474. Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), Ex. 19. Whether this was reasonable or not is 17 a question of fact.
18
19

20
21 Additionally, statements made by Allstate’s adjuster may indicate that it was compelling
22 Mr. Oung to litigate. For example, Mr. Cabin stated, “I also told [Mr. Russell] that if a lawsuit
23 was filed and we obtained information that increased the value of the UIM claim, that we could 24 re-evaluate the claim.” Decl. of Michael Cabin (Dkt. # 30), at 21; see also Decl. of Michael 25 Cabin (Dkt. # 30), Ex. 8. These statements, together with repeated requests for more
26
27
28

1 information, low settlement offers, and the ultimate payment of policy limits, could be viewed
2 as unreasonably compelling the plaintiff to litigate in violation of WAC 284-30-330(7).⁵

4 Ultimately, whether Allstate acted reasonably in handling Mr. Oung's UIM claim is a
5 question of fact. Smith, 150 Wn.2d at 484; Van Noy v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 142
6 Wn.2d 784, 796 (2001). Viewing all of the evidence in the light most favorable to Mr. Oung,
7 this Court cannot say, as a matter of law, that Allstate acted reasonably. Because there is a
8 genuine dispute of material fact regarding whether certain WAC provisions were violated and 9 whether Allstate's conduct was reasonable, this case is not appropriate for disposition on 10 summary judgment.
12

13 CONCLUSION

14 For all of the foregoing reasons, defendant's motion for summary judgment (Dkt. # 28) is 15 DENIED.
